

FIELD ECOLOGIST LEAD

Verdanterra, LLC offers a dynamic work environment and exceptional pay. Come work for a company where you are an important team member and your input is respected and valued. You will be encouraged and offered opportunities to grow in your career; your accomplishments will be noticed and rewarded.

We are seeking motivated individuals to fill seasonal positions as field ecologist leads. These positions will team with field ecologist technicians to conduct wetland and waterbody delineations, habitat assessments, and plant surveys. Additional responsibilities include organizing and summarizing field data and compiling survey reports.

Our project opportunities are geographically diverse, with opportunities to work across the Midwest and Ohio River Valley. Regardless of exact location, the field conditions are often rugged. Travel is required and projects typically require 6-day work weeks and/or multiple week mobilizations. Compensation packages include overtime pay, per diem and expense reimbursement, and bonuses based on performance.

What you will bring:

Candidates must have positive attitudes, be physically prepared to work in difficult conditions, and be eager to become a critical part of our growing team at Verdanterra. Preferred qualifications include:

- BS/BA pursuit in environmental science or related physical sciences field
- Knowledge of the Corps of Engineers Wetland Delineation Methodology
- Experience conducting wetland delineations
- Attention to detail with a desire to learn new skills
- Working knowledge of GPS technologies
- Ability to work outdoors in variable conditions and on varied terrain
- Able to travel, work weekends, and regularly work in excess of 40 hours per week
- Valid driver's license
- Pass a pre-employment drug and alcohol test
- Interest in participating and supporting various functions of a growing business

What we will provide:

- Exceptional pay, including overtime and per diem/expenses when working
- Vehicle and hotel for project work
- A dynamic and fun work environment
- Commitment to helping field scientists develop careers with our growing company

Verdanterra, LLC is a rapidly growing environmental services consulting group headquartered in Madison, Wisconsin. We support clients and projects on a national scale. Verdanterra strives to provide innovative solutions to the issues facing our clients. Interested candidates should submit a letter of interest and resume to careers@verdanterra.com. Please include the words "Field Ecologist Lead" in the subject line of your message. For more information on our company, please visit our website at <http://www.verdanterra.com>. Verdanterra is an Equal Opportunity Employer.